

Finally Caught Up

Weekly Report 15 ~ 12/10/2018 - 12/17/2018

This week, in the Independent Study and Mentorship program, time was focused towards creating a display board plan and going on interviews. The week began with scheduling two interviews with teachers from Sparks and Bledsoe Elementary. One interview was conducted within the same week and the other was scheduled for the following week. Additionally, a plan was set for the construction of the display board for research showcase.

Setting up interviews meant being one step closer to finding a mentor. The interview conducted with Mrs. Gayla Nicholas at Izetta Sparks Elementary was very informative due to her experience in the field and insight into the construction of a curriculum. Talking to Mrs. Nicholas about her experience in the field and getting her advice and input on my future in the field was very beneficial to my overall knowledge of the field and aided in restructuring my plan for the rest of this year to become more specified. This interview will be incredibly beneficial later on when developing my original work and research throughout the year.

Creating a plan for the display board provided a great reminder to stay on top of work that is long term and short term. Designing the display board helped create a plan of supplies to obtain and put together to make sure everything is put together and well done when the time comes to present. This display board will showcase all work done this year so making sure that it is professional and well done is a very important task.
